Marathon effort

Weightman's personal best a race record

CHRIS MUIRDEN

LISA Weightman overcame a serious bout of nerves to smash the Melbourne Marathon race record by more than six minutes yesterday.

The 34-year-old from Preston trailed Kenyan Eunice Kales by nearly 90 seconds at the 25km mark before catching her near the Arts Centre and going on to win in a personal best of 2hr 26min 5sec.

"I was certainly the most nervous I've ever been before a race," Weightman said.

"I think I put a fair bit of pressure on myself to run well because it was my home race and for the first time I ran with the expectation of victory.

"I went out at the pace I wanted to go out at, but when she (Kales) kicked away at 10km I was a bit worried."

Kales reached halfway in 71 minutes, impressing Weightman's husband and training partner Lachlan McArthur.

"We were thinking, wow, she should be running Berlin or New York, not Melbourne," McArthur said.

But Weightman gradually reeled Kales in, passing her near the 40km mark.

"It was just amazing to run into the 'G' with my family there. The best feeling was crossing the line and my nephew (Thomas, 7) came rushing up to me and gave me a huge hug," Weightman said.

Her time is an A qualifier for next year's Commonwealth Games in Glasgow and is the fourth fastest time recorded by an Australian woman.

With a $20,000 bonus for the race record, Weightman claimed $35,000 to justify her decision to skip the world titles in Moscow in August.

"This will take a lot of pressure off for Glasgow. The (Victorian Institute of Sport) covers my medical and travel expenses, but other than that I fund myself. That's why I work full time," she said.

Kenyan Dominic Ondoro won the men's marathon in 2:10.47, knocking 17 seconds off compatriot Japhet Kipkorir's 2010 time.

Ondoro, 26, broke clear of a group of seven runners including Essendon's Liam Adams at the 30km mark.

"We went through halfway in 66 minutes and I was thinking 'too slow', but I'm happy now," Ondoro said.

Japan's Yuki Kawauchi finished second in 2:11.40, but said he was disappointed he didn't complete an Australian treble, having won Sydney last year and Gold Coast in July.

Adams faded to sixth in 2:14.09, but his time is also an A qualifier for Glasgow.

Soon after the elite runners finished, Melbourne was hit by a severe downpour that created havoc for many of the 6830 finishers, with flooding forcing organisers to reduce the 5.7km event to just 3km.

Before the deluge Kenyan Wilfred Murgor (61.57) and Box Hill's Nikki Chapple (71.23) set race records in the half marathon.

The 10km race was won by Mitch Brown (30.29) and NSW's Bridey Delaney (34.12).

Marathon legend Steve Moneghetti was fifth home in 31:27, an unofficial world record for a 51-year-old.
